BURDEN:

Brethren, we must not give up in our prayers to the Lord, no matter how things may appear—even if it seems that some prayers are yet to be answered. Let us be fully assured of this one truth: the Lord delights in the prayers of His children. Because He delights in hearing us speak to Him in the place of prayer, we cannot afford to give up. Rather, we must intensify our efforts in prayer, knowing full well that the One who has called us to Himself has admonished us to pray without ceasing. Since He has instructed us to pray and not faint, wisdom demands that we heed this divine instruction.
